

Pytkos feted on anniversary

ADAMS—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pytko of 25 Park St. celebrated 50 years of marriage at a belated surprise anniversary party at Turn Hall.

The April 24 party, arranged by the couple's daughters, was attended by 170 friends and relatives.

The Pytkos have for 40 of their 50 years of married life been Park Street residents of the Mauser Block where they are custodians.

Mr. Pytko was an electrician at General Electric Co. in Pittsfield for many years until his retirement eight years ago.

Walter J. Donovan was the principle speaker at the party. He expressed his appreciation for their 40 years of care of the apartment building he owns.

Also speaking was the Rev. John Chwalek who gave the couple his

Local man collects tabs to boost fund

ADAMS—Alfred J. Golonka of 23 Burt St., a retired screw machine operator formerly employed by General Electric Co. in Pittsfield, is claiming a record of sorts in his retirement.

He's been cleaning up the roadsides and parks since last September of those pesky little soda and beer cans and by collecting them putting money into the North Adams

And not only is he busy himself at bending for tabs but he's got the Adams Senior Citizens Club members doing it too, and seven men and women who help him clean up at the Hoosac Drive-In theater as well as roadsides.

He's turned in more than 63,000 aluminum tabs to fire chief Albert P. Denelli at the North Adams Fire Station.

The fire chief sells the aluminum and deposits the money in a special account for the benefit of the Martin boy, now 10, of North Adams, who has lost both kidneys and is hospitalized.

Enlisted also in Mr. Golonka's campaign here are employees of The Pizza House at McKinley Square, four men at General Electric Co. in Pittsfield, the Shady Pines Campground in Savoy, St. Stanislaus Koska Hall Employees, and his wife, Ethel M. Golonka.

The party was arranged by Mrs. Gerhardt Wesner and Mrs. John Buck. The couple's grandchildren, John, Claudia, Louise, Glenn and Owen Buck and Gerhardt Wesner Jr. attended the party as did their one great-grandchild, Gwen Parker.

The Pytkos were married in St. Stanislaus Koska Church, on April 12 by the late pastor, the Rev. Francis Kolodziej. They were attended by David Bator, now of Pittsfield, and Sophie (Zagranichny) Kordana, now of Williamstown. Both of them attended the party.

The celebrants were presented a money tree, gifts and a purse of money.

Mr. Pytko is a native of Adams, born Oct. 30, 1906, son of the late John and Karolina (Stawars) Pytko. He attended Adams schools.

Mrs. Pytko also is an Adams native, born June 5, 1910. She was Nellie Bator, a daughter of Joseph and Dora (Logowski) Bator. She also attended Adams schools.

Dance music at the party was by Ricky's Polka Jaks.

Local educators attend conference

ADAMS—Norman Immeran of Adams Memorial Junior High School and Allan Boschen and Andrew Gigliotti of Hoosac Valley High School were among industrial arts teachers who attended the 77th annual spring conference of the Mass. Industrial Education Society Friday and Saturday at Eastover Resort in Lenox.

Part of the conference included a project fair where industrial arts projects from all over the state were on display.

Among Adams students who entered items were David Dean, stereo stand, Robert Rodowicz, soft-faced hammer, Joseph Biocela, meat tenderizer, Robert Gigliotti, tap wrench, and Richard Rousseau, flintlock pistol. The Adams students were awarded certificates of merit for their entries.

Sailor Stavaski captures top spot

ADAMS—David Stavaski of Deland, Fla., a former Adams resident and son of Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Stavaski of 20 Siara St., won first place in the Daytona Offshore Boat Races on Sunday, May 2.

Mr. Stavaski sailing his new bryster 22 named "Tenacious" defeated a 30-foot sailing fleet in a 14-mile triangle course laid out near

Daytona Beach.

The race of Halifax Yacht Club was defeated by a squall that nearly sank one boat, a 28-footer, and reached a 41-footer.

In previous races, Mr. Stavaski, aboard another boat, "Sunchaser," had been a consistent second and third place finisher.

Mr. Stavaski graduated from McCann School with the class of 1967 in tool and machine design. He attended Daytona Beach Community College, where he received a degree in surveying law in 1975.

He is employed by the Volusia County engineering department in Deland, where he has resided for the last four years at 307 College Ct.
